

Privacy Policy and Security Policy

For ChicagoMortgageSpot.com

Collected Information - Voluntary

ChicagoMortgageSpot.com, of Ryzen, LLC (from this point on referred to as "ChicagoMortgageSpot") does not and will not collect or obtain any personal or contact information about its users without their express, prior permission.

Collected Information - Involuntary

The only information collected involuntarily from all visitors is basic analytic data supplied by Google Analytics which may include geographic, referral, on-site navigation patterns and IP information for the purpose of tracking our website traffic statistics. We use this data in order to improve our website & user experience, as well as measuring the effectiveness of our advertising & marketing efforts.

The data is collected (and stored) by our preferred & reputable traffic analysis service. The data is stored securely and is not publicly available. Only ChicagoMortgageSpot (ownership & staff) can access this statistical data, without exception.

This data is collected through the use of a simple javascript script on each page of ChicagoMortgageSpot, and does not interfere with or affect the user's internet browsing program whatsoever.

ChicagoMortgageSpot does NOT use spyware, adware, viruses, trojans or otherwise any invasive, involuntary methods to increase incoming traffic, or otherwise for any other purpose.

Security Policy:

The full loan request form (on ChicagoMortgageSpot.com's secure server area, <https://secure.ChicagoMortgageSpot.com>) is protected and encrypted by a SSL V3 connection. We do not collect or store any social security numbers or financial information at any time.

From there, the data is stored in a secured location on our own servers, as well as transmitted to participating lenders in relation to the type of loan request that was received.

At all times, your data is kept safe and secure.

While nobody can guarantee 100% "security" in an online environment, ChicagoMortgageSpot uses military-grade encryption and security measures on par with the systems used by online banking services to protect data.

Newsletter Information:

When users initiate the loan request function, they are also simultaneously subscribed to the ChicagoMortgageSpot newsletter, and this is clearly disclosed on the initial Loan Request form as a link titled "Newsletter Information".

ChicagoMortgageSpot uses a reputable, CAN-SPAM compliant newsletter management service. ChicagoMortgageSpot only sends email communications to users who specifically request information about lending options, and/or request for mortgage brokers to contact them regarding a loan.

If a subscribed user wishes to unsubscribe from the newsletter for any reason, he or she may do so instantly by following the automated unsubscribe link, located in the footer of every email. In addition, the user may email us at Info@ChicagoMortgageSpot.com, or by mail at:

ChicagoMortgageSpot
Ryzen, LLC
3501 N. Southport Ave #372
Chicago, IL 60657

Or
Ryzen, LLC
22B Smada Drive
Sanford, ME 04073

The data collected by our newsletter system will be used for marketing purposes related to topics on mortgages, lending products or similarly relevant content.

The data collected by our full-form loan request (hosted on the secure server environment at secure.ChicagoMortgageSpot.com) is both stored by Ryzen, LLC in our own database, as well as distributed to advertisers who match our criteria as financing professionals for the area in which a user has requested help in obtaining financing.

ChicagoMortgageSpot does sell information voluntarily submitted by its users to cooperating advertisers who can potentially assist the user in obtaining a loan.
